Bicycle Thieves Arrested.

Two well known young boys of Newark were arrested last night by Officer Burke and the charge of stealing a bicycle was placed against them. The wheel was stolen from a young man named Kaufman, and after some search the missing property was located at the ice plant where a young man had purchased it. As it was proved that but one of the young fellows was actually guilty of the crime, he was given 15 days in jail, and the other was let down with a fine.

Leave Your Orders.

Hon. David H. Pegg and Captain John Doyle have embarked in the business of producing garden truck for the market. They have rented a plot of ground in the old Birkey bottom, just east of the North Fork of the Licking river, and already have placed quite a number of orders. They plant every week, but the demand has been so great during the past week that their orders go ahead of them and they run out of seed. Parties desiring anything in the vegetable line will do well to place their orders at once.

REVOLUTIONISTS SURRENDER TABRIZ TO FORCES OF THE SHAH.

Russia and England Warn Victorious Soldiers That Repetition of Massacre Must Not Occur.

St. Petersburg July 3.—The massacre is on at Tabriz, Persia, and the city is being sacked by blood thirsty and merciless Cossack hordes, according to authentic dispatches received here today. Prior to the starting of the massacre 370 persons had been killed and 700 wounded in the outskirts of the city since last Sunday. The massacre followed the surrender of the city to the Shah's forces.

St. Petersburg, July 3.—After holding the city against repeated attacks of the Shah's infantry and cavalry for two days, the revolutionists today surrendered Tabriz and the Shah's forces are now in complete control. Late advices say that the killed on both sides in the two days' fighting will number 2000. So stubborn was the resistance of the revolutionists that Raschin Khan in command of the Shah's cavalry, finally accepted their offer of surrender on a guarantee of personal safety. Fearing that this guarantee would not be kept the Russian and English representatives in Tabriz warned the victorious soldiers that a repetition of the Teheran massacre would call for immediate intervention.

ABDUCTOR SURRENDERS

AFTER HAVING ELUDED HIS PURSUERS FOR THE PAST THREE DAYS.

Starving and Exhausted Loveall Gives Himself Up to Authorities—Offered No Indignities to Girl.

Fresno, Cal., July 3.—Tony Loveall, one of the kidnapers of Edna Domingue, of Coalinga, is in jail here today after having eluded his pursuers for three days. Worn out by lack of sleep and food Loveall surrendered and was hurried to the county jail to prevent lynching.

After his surrender Loveall gave the details of the abduction. He and Rogers, his companion, thought Domingue would have the $5,000 they wanted in the house. No abduction was contemplated at first, and it was only when, angry at not getting the money, they saw the girl in the yard that the idea of stealing her occurred. After his separation from Rogers and the girl before the battle which resulted in Rogers' capture Loveall took to the hills. For three days he evaded his pursuers. Finally, starving and exhausted, he surrendered. As soon as he was sighted a dozen rifles covered him and an irate pursuer opened fire. Before a second shot, however, Loveall's hands went up. Only the fact that Rogers and Loveall offered no indignities to the girl, saved them from lynching.

CAMPAIGN FUND "POINTERS" FOR TAFT FROM CORTELYOU

Mr. Taft has been holding a conference with Secretary Cortelyou to get "pointers" on the management of the campaign. It was Mr. Cortelyou as National chairman, who swelled the Republican campaign fund by frying the fat out of the Trusts and big corporations in 1904.

It was the shrewd Cortelyou who elected the unsophisticated Roosevelt with the money of the trusts without the latter's knowledge of where the money came from, or how it was obtained.

And now the equally innocent Mr. Taft is in need of "pointers" from Cortelyou so that the great trick of frying the fat out of the Trusts for campaign funds in 1904 may be repeated in 1908. Taft, of course, wants to be advised how the Trusts can be made to put up the funds without his (Taft's) knowledge. And Cortelyou, of course, is ready and willing to give Mr. Taft the "pointers."

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM PYPOCRISY UNMASKED

(Sandusky Register, Rep.)
When the platform adopted by the committee finally was presented for approval to the convention separate votes were taken on the publication of campaign expenses, that is, what is generally known as publicity, and it was promptly voted down by the convention. The question of "physical valuation of railroads" was promptly voted down, and the election of senators by a direct vote of the people was also promptly voted down. These proposed additions to the platform having been rejected, the platform as adopted by the committee was approved.

In reply to a letter from Mr. Bryan, Mr. Taft some days ago declared himself in favor of publicity of campaign expenses, and the convention that nominates him votes down that proposition by a well-nigh unanimous vote, not 50 of his own men in the convention voting for it. The president has declared in favor of the physical valuation of railroads and that proposition was voted down by his own convention. The question of electing senators by direct vote has the support of both Republicans and Democrats throughout the country, but the Republican party as run at the present time promptly voted it down.

Washing Is Hard Work.

Sensible women adopt everything and anything that makes it easier.

They use washing machines; and find them useful.

They use clean water; or if it is not clean they do what they can to make it clean.

But even with a washing machine and clean water, it is not possible to do satisfactory work unless the soap is good. Right there is where a great many women make a mistake. They buy this, that or the other brand of soap because it is cheap or because they get premiums for the wrappers. They save, perhaps, a cent a cake and they take two, three or even four hours more time to get through their work than is necessary.

At best, washing is hard work. And the sensible thing to do is to adopt anything that will make it easier.

The greatest time, labor, money and clothes saver that has been invented in years is P. & G. Naphtha Soap. Try it.

5 Cents a cake—worth more.

The Merry Widow

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY HENRY W. SAVAGE

Throwing herself back into the strength of his circling embrace, the girl's outstretched arms swayed like wind-blown lilies in rhythm with the music, her light step scarcely touching earth as the prince guided her through the mazes of the dance.

"A lady went into the summer house with a gentleman."

what sullen pride forced back from the lips.
Then a last dreamy chord and the music was hushed. Danilo and Sonia started, amazed, as though from some vision of paradise. The widow, fearful lest by impulsive word she might wreck her plan of bringing Danilo to her feet, darted breathlessly away to welcome a new group of guests. The prince, left alone, stared after her, open mouthed. A clapping of applauding hands aroused him.

"Bravo, bravo, my dear prince!" wheezed the ambassador, toddling forward. "What a delightful little dance! But is it customary to catch one's partner in a jiu jitsu grip like that, or as it a fashion that has come in since my waltzing days?"

The old bore's feeble jest brought Danilo quickly back to earth and to a sense of everyday surroundings.

"Were you looking for me?" he asked, none too civilly.
"Only to see if you had succeeded yet in finding who the lady is with whom De Jolidon is in love. She must be made to win him away from any ideas of marrying the widow."

"To blaze with that and all the rest of your silly plans!" shouted Danilo. "Don't worry any more about the widow. It's no use, I tell you. She is going to marry a Frenchman in spite of us all! And," he went on bitterly, goaded by the chagrin and abject disappointment in Popoff's face, "I'm going to dance at her wedding!"

"Going to marry a Frenchman, is she?" yelled the distracted ambassador. "Preposterous! I'll find a way of stopping it! And it is De Jolidon she thinks of marrying?"

"What's that to me? I don't know who she's engaged to, and—"
But Popoff waited to hear no more. Catching sight of Nish, he rushed upon that unhappy clerk.

"Find M. de Jolidon!" he commanded. "Keep your eye on him all the rest of the evening. See if he makes love to the widow and report to me. I have already told Mme. Popoff to sound him on the subject. Among us all we ought to learn something before we're done."

"You'll learn something if you keep on spying," muttered Danilo under his breath as he moved away. "But I'll bet a year's income it'll be something that will give you more surprise than pleasure."

Dusk was falling. Above the myriad colored lights that dotted the garden the moon was rising. Along one of the hedged paths leading to the summer house a man and a woman were strolling—Mme. Natalie Popoff and M. de Jolidon.

"And so your worthy husband set you the task of finding out whom I am in love with?" De Jolidon was saying.

"Yes," the ambassador's young wife answered. "He is afraid you will marry the widow."

"Why shouldn't I?" queried De Jolidon jokingly. "You told me to."

"But—But you won't, will you?" she pleaded. "Why don't you look at me? What are you looking at?"

fan where it lay forgotten on the table. "The fan you lost and that your husband pocketed," he said, handing it to her.
"Thank goodness!" Natalie exclaimed, seizing it; then:
"Lead me a pencil."
She wrote a sentence on the fan directly beneath the three words he had scribbled the night before at the ball.
"There," she sighed, handing it to him; "keep that as a reminder." He held the fan up to the light and read:
"I am—a—dutiful—wife."
"Remember that always," she adjured.
"Natalie!" he cried passionately. "It is true—I am a dutiful wife. If I have been foolish enough to listen to your love-making, at least I have never encouraged it. I have always reined you for conscience's sake. I am a dutiful!"
"Why remind me of the hopelessness of my love?" murmured De Jolidon. "You may refuse to reciprocate it, but you cannot prevent my telling you!"
"But I can. After this evening we must not meet again. My husband trusts me. This must be our farewell interview. Don't try to alter my purpose. I have made up my mind. After this evening I shall never—"
"Natalie, you can't mean!"
"I do. This is the last talk we two shall ever have together."

"I'M AWAKE FROM MY CRAZY DREAM OF LOVE, AND I'M GOING BACK TO MAXIM'S."

"Then," implored De Jolidon, "if it is really to be our farewell interview, why must we talk here in the garden, where at any moment others may come to claim your attention? Grant me a final half hour of your society all to myself. Let the talk be uninterrupted. Let us sit in the little summer house over there. See—it is empty."

They entered the little inclosed arbor. It was lighted by a string of Japanese lanterns, and two rustic chairs were at opposite sides of its round center table. There was a door at each end of the tiny room—an ideal spot for a tête-à-tête chat now that the moonlight had wowed most of the guests out of doors.

The light wicker door swung shut behind the couple. Natalie quite enjoyed the prospect of listening to her adorer's melodramatic words of farewell and of posing heroically as a self-sacrificing, dutiful wife. In half an hour at most she would rejoin her husband with the richuous consciousness in her heart of having dismissed forever the one man besides Popoff who had ever made love to her.

So interested was Natalie in De Jolidon's parting speech that she did not hear the ambassador, just outside, declare excitedly:

"Nish, I'm sure I saw that summer house door close behind a lady's skirt! Let's see who is in there!"

CHAPTER V. To the Rescue.

NISH, who had obediently followed De Jolidon and Natalie at Popoff's orders until they had entered the summer house, now wriggled forward in confusion on hearing the ambassador's voice.

"Did you call me?" he asked.
"I most surely did call you, Mr. Nish," cried Popoff. "And I told you I was certain I saw a lady, or, rather, a lady's skirt, disappearing into that summer house. Who was she?"

"I—I don't know, your excellency," tremblingly lied Nish.
"You ought to know!" scolded Popoff. "You were standing nearer the summer house than I was. Didn't you see her at all?"

"Yes, sir—yes, I saw her, if I may say so, but I don't know who she was, I really don't."

"Was she alone?"
"No, your excellency, not quite alone. There was, if I may say so—there was a gentleman with her. At least he looked like a gentleman, but I didn't recognize him either."

"Well, well, well!" chuckled the ambassador, seating himself in a garden chair and eyeing the summer house with delightful interest. "A little flirtation, eh? Gone in there to whisper sweet nothings where no one can interrupt 'em. I wonder who they are! Now, I really wonder! Mr. Nish, I would not for the world have you think I am the least bit curious. But—I'll just sit here awhile, for a joke, and watch them come out. In the meantime, Mr. Nish, you might slip around to the rear of the summer house and see if there is another door there. If there is, you might lock it. Understand?"

"Yes, your excellency," mumbled panic-stricken Nish, scuttling away.

Claims Gabriel's Trumpet is Due to Blow in Six Weeks, but Duggett Won't Meet Him.

Greensboro, N. C., July 3.—Just because Fletch Duggett, an eccentric of Greensboro, claims to have received a telegram from God that the end of the world is at hand the authorities have thrown him into prison.

Duggett declares that according to his special information, Gabriel's trumpet is due to blow in six weeks. The authorities of the town think that it will be not enough here at the time and resents an idea of transportation to any warmer climate. Until his special day of doom arrives Duggett at least will remain cool. He will stay in a cell to await vindication as a prophet.

THE SHEATH BATHING SUIT WHICH IS CREATING A GREAT SENSATION

New York, July 3.—If a bathing dress composed of a comparatively modest green and black plaid stirred such a storm at Asbury Park last summer as to require police intervention, what will be the result when the bathing suit of the 1908 model displays itself on the seashore sands this year?

For the "sheath" bathing suit is here. One mere man, had the temerity, after summoning sufficient courage to view a half dozen of these beach garments, to unhesitatingly answer the question with the assertion that the "one best bet" is that the life savers corps, the State militia and several detachments of federal troops may be required to lend aid to the summer resort police.

No one, let it be understood, can accuse the bathing suit of not keeping step with Fashion's progress. The casual observer must admit that it is leading its nearest competitor, the Directorate gown, by three city blocks.

The bathing suit that will be in vogue, as the Parisian modiste has it, at the summer resorts this year is composed of higher colorature than ever set a Greig composition of a Chopin étude. It eclipses the rainbow color combination presented. Application of an especially constructed colorimeter, modistes agree, would prove that the color strength easily approximates something like 213-horse power on the low speed. At the port, side appears the open slit that has made the Directorate gown the cynosure of the sensation seeking eye.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 3.—Sheath bathing skirts so long as their use has no more serious effect than the development of "rubber-necks" along the shore will have the O.K. of Dr. Beckwith, beach surgeon here. When two pretty girls appeared today clad in the new form revealers every life saver gasped. This brought a protest from certain elderly ones who will not wear sheath suits. The lives of many were endangered while the life savers gazed.

"It's all right," said Dr. Beckwith. "I don't blame them. But if any trouble comes I don't know what I'll do—put blinkers on the life guards I guess."

The two bathers wore black mohair suits. There was not much of a slit in the skirts, but then the skirts weren't much themselves.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

Decrease in Railroad Earnings.

New York, July 3.—The gross earnings of the railroads of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, were estimated by the Wall Street Journal today to amount to $2,477, as compared with last year. The net 304,656, a decrease of $108,608,346 earnings of the railroads are estimated at $18,542,578, a decrease of $121,273,302. These estimates are based on the earnings of 105 of the leading railroads for three months or more. The paper estimates also that during May and June the gross receipts of the railroads are showing a net loss at the rate of $600,000,000 a year in gross and of $200,000,000 in net earnings.

Railroad Notes.

The B. & O. will have out of Wheeling this evening on train 15 two extra sleepers and one private car for Denver, Colo.

MONKEY HAS FUN ON CAR.

A monkey that broke his leash on the oil steamer Ecuador caused all kinds of excitement the other day at Point Breeze, near Philadelphia, by jumping on trolley cars and scaring passengers and trying to hug the women.

The trouble started when a car from the station at Thirtieth and Passyunk avenue reached Twenty-eighth street. There the passengers saw a big monkey coming across the fields. They watched it with amusement until it made for the car. The animal boarded the front platform at Twenty-eighth street and the monkey's fun commenced.

It started by chasing the conductor on the car, and then commenced to crawl over the seats, grabbing at the men and women passengers, several of whom fainted. The passengers jumped off the car and the monkey took a flying leap to a car passing, creating another panic.

A call was sent to the Twentieth district station and a detail of police were sent out to capture it. It was traced to a farm some distance away, where it again escaped, but was finally captured in the neighborhood of Cateville by Mr. Thomas Dailey, who seeing the wooden tag chained around its waist, with the name of the consignor upon it, promptly cradled the animal, and expressed it to the Gentry Bros., winter quarters at Bloomington, Ind., where it was consigned. This new specimen of the South American ape is now safely ensconced in its cage and is on view in the Gentry menagerie, where it can be seen next Monday, July 6, when the famous shows exhibit here.

OBITUARY

MISS ELVIRA PEARSON.

Johnstown, O., July 3.—Miss Elvira Pearson died at the home of her sister Mrs. George Phillips, of this city, on Wednesday morning from dropsy of the heart. Miss Pearson had been in ill health for the past several years, and had been confined to her bed for the last four months. She was 68 years of age and was born and raised in Homer, O. She moved to this city and has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Phillips for the past 20 years. She was a friend to all who knew her. Every possible medical aid was given her, yet death was the inevitable result.

T. S. HURSEY.

Word has been received here of the death of Mr. T. S. Hursey, which occurred in Washington, D. C., on Wednesday, July 1. He is survived by his widow and one son and an only sister Mrs. Hattie Brown of Chatham. The deceased had many relatives and friends in Newark and Licking county, who will be grieved to learn of Mr. Hursey's death.

CHAS. AUGUSTUS MERIDITH.

Charles Augustus Meridith, the only child of Thomas A. and Etta Naddy Meridith, was born May 2, 1906, and entered into his heavenly rest Sunday, June 28, 1908. Very beautiful and impressive were the funeral services held at the residence at 1 p. m. Tuesday, conducted by Rev. T. A. Cosgrove, with the selection of "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Face to Face" most exquisitely and feelingly sung by Mrs. W. G. Corne and Miss Margaret Naddy of Columbus. Burial was made at Farmington cemetery, where services were held in the church again, conducted by Rev. Mr. Cosgrove and music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Franks, Miss Ada Tavner and Mr. John Duthmer.

The pallbearers were his four little cousins, Frederick Meridith, Carleton Nichols, Emerson and Harold Corningham.

Little Charles was a child of marvelous personality, but two years old, yet that his friends were many was attested by the numerous beautiful flowers in evidence.

THOMAS DONOVAN.

The funeral of the late Thomas Donovan took place at St. Francis de Sales church Friday morning at 8-30 and interment was held at Mt. Calvary cemetery.

COLUMBUS

Hay Dealer Said to Have Defrauded Newark People Through False Weigh Bills.

For some time past the police have been working on a case in which a stranger from Columbus, giving his name as Otto Van Kirk, was the principal, and was charged by several people around town with defrauding them. Van Kirk claimed to be a hay dealer and since his arrival in Newark he has sold tons of hay, and in almost every case the purchasers claimed they were "done."

While complaints of many kinds have been registered against the man, yet John F. Callander, proprietor of the Sato Dye Works, was the only one to file a warrant against the man. He charged that the man would weigh his hay on the city scales and then make out a "phony" weight bill and by that method would receive payment for more hay than he sold.

The warrant was given to Officers Callan and Curroll with instructions to look for the man and to arrest him on sight. This was done and he will be given his hearing tonight at seven o'clock. Attorney Sayles has been retained to defend him.

THIRD STRAIGHT GAME TAKEN BY THE TIGERS

Newark Drops Another to the Mansfield Bunch and Slip from First Division
--Team Now at Portsmouth

The Molders Return Home Sunday for a Long Series
With Portsmouth, Marion, Lima and Mansfield--Fans are Ball Hungry.

Yesterday's Results.

Mansfield 3, Newark 2.
Marion-Lima-Rain.

The Mansfield Tigers who are taking an entirely unexpected rally, took the third game of the series from the Molders yesterday by the score of 5 to 2. The bunching of hits in the second inning saved the game and four men rounded the big bend.

Newark played gilt edge ball, and while they hit Lloyd yet their bingles were not timely and as a result the two runs they got in the first inning were the only time they sent scores home. Written played the best ball he has played in several games when he got a hit, a stolen base, two put-outs and six assists without an error.

As is usually the case the Molders had it on their opponents in stealing bases and sacrifice hitting, but the Gipsy curse was on them and they could not win. Moore while hit ten times, was invincible except in the second inning and he twirled pretty ball. He walked but one man and struck out four.

The fans are not caring particularly about dropping the three to Mansfield for they will get them back again, and already they have taken more games from the Tigers than the Tigers can afford to have taken.

We are in Portsmouth today and will be there for three games. We should get back all the games we lost to Mansfield and with Lima bucking against Lancaster, we are again liable to reach the first division.

After the series at Portsmouth the boys come home for a long stretch and should pick up more than half of the games played. The fans have more faith in them than they had at the start of the season and their rooting has done much to encourage them.

BASE BALL NOTES

Dropped out of the first division again! Doesn't matter much the season is just middle aged now and there is lots of time. A little strengthening and the team will do wonders.

The Mansfield News in a bunch of indignation attacks the ump and demands that the spectators insist upon their rights, that of having the team win when on the home grounds. Because Bob Hart ejected Burke from the game and the grounds during the Newark series the News says he (the ump) will get all that's coming to him.

For the first time in many moons the Mansfield squad had the "bus" on us. Once doesn't matter though.

In sliding for second base at Lima the other day, Lloyd Fielder Wilson of the Marion team sustained an injury that will probably put him out of the game for the rest of the season. He hurried himself forward on his left hand and struck the back in such a manner that one finger was broken off at the first joint. When picked up the injured finger was hanging by a thread of skin.

SHACKLED

WITH CHAINS WERE 76 UNITED STATES CONVICTS PASSING THROUGH CITY.

On Special Train and Men Were Being Transferred from Moundsville to Ft. Leavenworth.

Securely shackled by their ankles to chains running the full length of the cars, and handcuffed together in twos, 76 government convicts passed through the city over the B and O Friday at 11:10 a. m. on a special train enroute from Moundsville, W. Va. to the United States prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. Most of the prisoners were long-term negroes, including several life terms.

Among the white prisoners was a District of Columbia embezzler named Watson, who was recently sent up from Washington for ten years. Charged with embezzlement of $15,000, Watson is a man with a splendid prison record and is well liked. He was a prominent politician and a leader in the social life of Washington.

The train, which is running on a 60-mile an hour schedule, arrived in Newark on schedule time and stopped here for five minutes to load on the noonday meal, leaving for Ft. Leavenworth via Chicago, expecting to arrive at the destination Saturday.

The prisoners were in charge of United States Marshall C. D. Elliott and a corps of 27 guards. Major Elliott is being assisted by A. T. Barrett of Parkersburg, and George W. Sine, assistant deputy, and a newspaper man from the Parkersburg Sentinel.

Most of the guards are from Major Elliott's home, Parkersburg, and the prisoners are United States convicts who have been in the West Virginia State penitentiary. Miscreants from the District of Columbia are taken to Moundsville and placed in the West Virginia institution until there is room for them in some one of the United States prisons, when they are removed and transferred in squads.

The government treats them well, and the officers in charge say there is not a sulky or disagreeable one in the lot. They are given the best fare to be had and the government supplies them with pipe and a good grade of tobacco.

The men are being removed from one of the finest penal institutions in the country, the West Virginia penitentiary being one of the few state prisons that is not only self-sustaining but which annually turns over to the state a good cash profit.

The 76 men represent all kinds of crimes committed in and about Washington. One man, a life prisoner, was bound with ten pounds of chain, but he is a big fellow and stood for the shackles without a murmur. Another convict, serving twenty years for highway robbery, is minus both legs, so handcuffs were the best he could get.

A large party of prisoners were recently removed from Moundsville to the United States prison at Atlanta, Ga., and still Uncle Sam is caring for over 400 of his own prisoners at Moundsville. Owing to the fact that not only the federal prisoners from the state of West Virginia, but those of the District of Columbia are sent to Moundsville, the prison scarcely has room for any more until several hundred of the convicts can be taken to the regular United States institutions.

The train which passed through here consisted of four vestibule day coaches with every common traveler's comfort, so that the trip will afford the men at least one short glimpse of the outside world.

The accompanying officials were kind in extending courtesies to a representative of the Advocate and willingly advanced interesting information concerning the incidents of the trip.

HEARTY WELCOME

EXTENDED THE VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE BY HIS FELLOW CITIZENS.

Mr. Sherman Pale and Worn. But He Stood Trip Remarkably Well—Great Ovation.

Cleveland, N. Y., July 3.—The homecoming last night of Congressman James S. Sherman was made the occasion of such a demonstration as has rarely been seen in this section. Two welcome to the Republican candidate for the vice presidency was a non-partisan affair and to a great extent, personal, for the congressman's recovery, reason for public rejoicing upon his safe return.

Mr. Sherman, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman and Dr. Carter, reached here on the New York express at 9:15 last night. As his train drew into the station hands played, fireworks were set off and church chiming rang out.

In Bagges square and every other spot adjacent to the New York Central station, thousands of persons were crowded. Mr. Sherman stepped from the train slowly, looking pale and worn. But he had stood the journey, his physicians said, very well. A monster procession formed in the vicinity of the station and escorted the candidate to his home. The line of march covered fully a mile.

The route lay through the principal streets, the buildings of which were elaborately decorated. A dozen bands furnished music. Fireworks added a special feature and tens of thousands of persons ranged along the route shouted themselves hoarse. At Mr. Sherman's home the formal welcome took place, the principal speaker being Major J. D. Kearney.

DANGEROUS

Low Stage of Water in the Canal and Health is Menaced.

The residents of this city along the banks of the filthy ditch which goes by the name of "Ohio Canal," are complaining that the low stage of water in the local supervisor keeps it becoming so dangerous to health. As the ditch cannot be filled up at present with soil, it would seem best to let the water in, of which there is an abundance at the source.

True, there is quite a leak at the lock, but it can be stopped for a small sum and not much labor.

The steam users on the feeder and lower level of the canal get their supply on account of a bulk-head that was built years ago at the aqueduct, and if the powers that be, desire to conserve the health and looks of the locality which the canal traverses, they would do well to get busy and let enough water in to hide the odiferous dead animals, mud, and weeds that are now so menacing to the health of the vicinity.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY

ACCOUNTABLE FOR DEATH OF FIVE WOMEN AND ONE BOY AT CLEVELAND.

Over Score of Women and Several Firemen Injured—Store Crowded With Customers.

Cleveland, O., July 3.—About 20 women were hurt in a panic caused by a fire which broke out in Kreske's 7 and 10 cent store on Ontario street, just before 11 o'clock today. Several firemen were hurt by falling glass. Women, in mad terror, leaped from windows. The fire was started by a spark falling in a fire works display in the rear of the store. The building is a five story one in the busiest part of the Ontario street business section. The store employs over 100 girls and is usually crowded with customers at this hour. It is believed that a spark from a patent torch used in night fire works started the blaze.

Six bodies were found in the basement of the store at 12:30 this afternoon. One was the body of a boy, the other five were women. The bodies were found near the door in the rear of the store, and it is supposed they met death through being unable to open it.

London's greatest rush hours are from 8 to 9 in the morning and at about 6:30 in the evening. Between 3 and 9 101,000 persons enter the city, between 6 and 7 175,000 leave.
